

Abstract

A method for lifting a wheel of a vehicle including placing a bracket on the nose of a lifting jack with hooks secured to the bracket by straps. The jack is cranked with the hooks in the wheel. A wheel lift attachment for use with a jack the attachment including a bracket, straps and hooks.